

HINSDALE, Illinois - Members of the American Board for Occupational Health Nurses, Inc. (ABOHN) and the Board of Certified Safety Professionals (BCSP) met to discuss updating the Safety Management (SM) Examination. ABOHN was informed that the BCSP Board of Directors determined that the interest in the Safety Management (SM) credential did not exceed expected return on investment and therefore opted not to renew the agreement as of June 30, 2013. This decision immediately affects those candidates who are considering preparing for the examination.

Individuals holding the Safety Management (SM) designation, their credential will still be honored until 12/31/2018 provided the current guidelines for recertification are met. The Safety Management (SM) credential will officially expire on 12/31/2018.
